02 / Company, product and audience

Context the agency should use when developing its strategy.

2.1 Company background

Northstar Labs Pvt. Ltd. is a fictional software company building lightweight tools for students and early-career professionals. It wants to introduce OrbitDesk in India and establish a repeatable creator-led acquisition channel. Its internal marketing team is small; the agency is expected to own day-to-day campaign operations.

2.2 Product summary: OrbitDesk

OrbitDesk is a fictional web-based productivity workspace that helps users organize tasks, capture notes and work with uploaded documents. The campaign should demonstrate practical workflows rather than make broad promises about productivity or academic outcomes.

Product area	Approved description
Task organization	Users can create and organize tasks and personal workspaces.
Notes	Users can capture and organize notes in a workspace.
Document assistance	Users can upload supported documents and generate summaries or structured notes.
Workflow planning	Users can turn information into a personal action list and work plan.
Availability	Web application. Mobile app availability is not confirmed for this campaign.

CLAIMS THAT MUST NOT APPEAR

Do not claim OrbitDesk guarantees higher grades, eliminates all errors, replaces teachers or professional advice, or automatically completes all work. Do not claim a mobile app is available. Any additional product claim requires written Northstar approval.

2.3 Target audience

Dimension	Target
Geography	India, priority to metro and Tier 1 / Tier 2 cities.
Age	Primarily 18–30. Do not target minors.
Segments	University students, postgraduate students and early-career professionals.
Interests	AI tools, productivity, study workflows, software, career development and digital organization.
Languages	English or natural Hinglish. Regional-language proposals may be suggested separately.
Audience quality	Prefer creators with a predominantly India-based audience where verified.

2.4 Desired audience action

Motivate viewers to visit the OrbitDesk landing page, understand one or two practical use cases, start the sign-up flow and complete an initial activation action. The exact activation event must be confirmed with Northstar before launch.

03 / Campaign objectives and creator brief

Targets are planning goals, not guaranteed outcomes.

3.1 Campaign objectives

Objective	Planning target	Measurement note
Qualified sign-ups	1,500	Definition of qualified sign-up must be confirmed.
Activated users	500	Activation event is not yet defined.
Impressions	1,500,000	Aggregate platform-reported impressions, not unique reach.
Landing-page visits	15,000	Use creator-specific UTM links where available.
Average engagement	4.0%	Report platform and calculation method.

TARGETS ARE NOT WARRANTIES

These are internal planning targets. Do not promise guaranteed impressions, sign-ups, conversions or ROI. Provide forecasts only with stated assumptions and evidence.

3.2 Campaign concept

Working concept: “Make room for better work.” Show realistic student and early-career workflows where OrbitDesk helps users organize tasks, collect notes and make sense of uploaded material. Favor product demonstrations and practical use cases over generic endorsements.

3.3 Requested creator mix

Creator segment	Target count	Preferred angle
AI / software reviewers	4	Hands-on demonstration of one OrbitDesk workflow.
Technology educators	3	Explain how to organize research, tasks or projects.
Student productivity creators	3	Realistic study/work organization use case.
Total	10	Agency may recommend a different mix with rationale.

3.4 Creator selection criteria

- Indicative audience size: 20,000–250,000 followers/subscribers. Smaller creators may be proposed when fit and evidence are strong.
- Prefer at least 60% India-based audience and meaningful 18–30 audience concentration where reliable analytics exist.
- Indicative engagement threshold: 3% or higher; use platform-appropriate formulas and recent data.
- Provide average or median views from recent comparable content, including sample size and measurement window.
- Require an authentic connection to technology, AI, education, productivity or student life.
- Check availability, existing category exclusivity and direct-competitor conflicts before final selection.
- Flag suspicious engagement or incomplete data; do not invent metrics or treat unverified profiles as confirmed.

Each shortlist profile should include creator handle/platform, dated follower count, recent views and sample size, engagement rate/formula, audience geography and age where available, relevant content examples, past sponsorship categories, rate quote, availability, brand-safety notes and metric sources.
